

Overview

Table 54

Arrests, Metropolitan Counties, by Sex, 2006

- In 2006, males accounted for 77.1 percent of all persons arrested in metropolitan counties.
- Males accounted for 83.1 percent of all persons arrested in metropolitan counties for violent crime and 72.9 percent of all persons arrested for property crime.
- Females accounted for 34.4 percent of all persons arrested for larceny-theft in metropolitan counties in 2006.
- In 2006, males were most often arrested in metropolitan counties for driving under the influence (193,082 arrests) and drug abuse violations (181,455 arrests).
- Females were most often arrested in metropolitan counties for driving under the influence (44,785 arrests) and drug abuse violations (44,734 arrests).